Community Wildfire Defense Grant 2022—Southern States

The purpose of the opportunity is to assist at-risk local communities with planning and mitigating against the risk created by wildfire. The three goals are to:

- Restore and Maintain Landscapes: Landscapes across all jurisdictions are resilient to fire-related disturbances, in accordance with management objectives.
- Create Fire Adapted Communities: Human populations and infrastructure can withstand a wildfire without loss of life and property.
- Improve Wildfire Response: All jurisdictions participate in making and implementing safe, effective, efficient risk-based wildfire management decisions

Recognizing Extraordinary Contributions to Agriculture Research

In partnership with the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation, we established the National Academy of Sciences (NAS) Prize in Food and Agriculture Sciences. The award recognizes extraordinary contributions to agriculture and understanding the biology of species important to food and agriculture production. The prize elevates food and agriculture research and highlights the critical need for scientists working toward more productive, sustainable agriculture. The prize recognizes mid-career scientists at US institutions working in scientific fields applicable to agriculture, including plant and animal sciences, microbiology, nutrition and food science, soil science, entomology, veterinary medicine and agricultural economics. Annually, we award the prize to one recipient, who receives a medal and a $100,000 cash award.

Pilot Proposals for the Study of Equine Behavior and Welfare

The focus of this program is on improving the lives of horses by increasing our understanding of the behavioral domain. This includes areas such as cognition, learning, stereotypes, separation anxiety, affiliative behavior toward (bonding with) humans, the effects of equine temperament on welfare, and equine psychopharmacology. Pilot study proposals should be aimed at generating data to prove the viability of a novel approach or idea. The project may involve domesticated or wild horses.
